NASHVILLE, Tenn.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jun. 10, 2026-- LP Building Solutions (LP), a leading manufacturer of high-performance building products, today announced it has been named a Top Workplaces of Middle Tennessee winner by The Tennessean for the fifth consecutive year.

LP is one of only 24 organizations recognized in its employee-size category. The award is based on feedback from Nashville-area LP team members who took part in a confidential third-party survey administered by Energage on behalf of The Tennessean.

"Being recognized for the fifth consecutive year is especially meaningful because it reflects the experiences of our team members," said LP CEO Jason Ringblom. "We've worked to build a culture where team members feel supported, challenged, and connected to the company's long-term success, and this recognition speaks to the people who shape that culture every day."

LP's workplace experience score increased by two points this year to nearly 90%, reflecting the company's continued focus on employee engagement, development, and well-being. Significant themes emerging in the employees' responses included respect, growth opportunities, support from leadership, and empowerment in day-to-day work.

"Earning a Top Workplaces award is a badge of honor for companies, especially because it comes authentically from employees," said Energage CEO Eric Rubino. "In today's market, leaders must ensure employees have a voice and feel heard. Top Workplaces prioritize that, and it pays dividends."

LP continues to invest in team member development programs, compensation and benefits, and workplace initiatives that foster collaboration, growth, and a strong team culture across the organization.
